

The Frog Prince

There was once an evil green fairy who turned the nice prince into a frog!

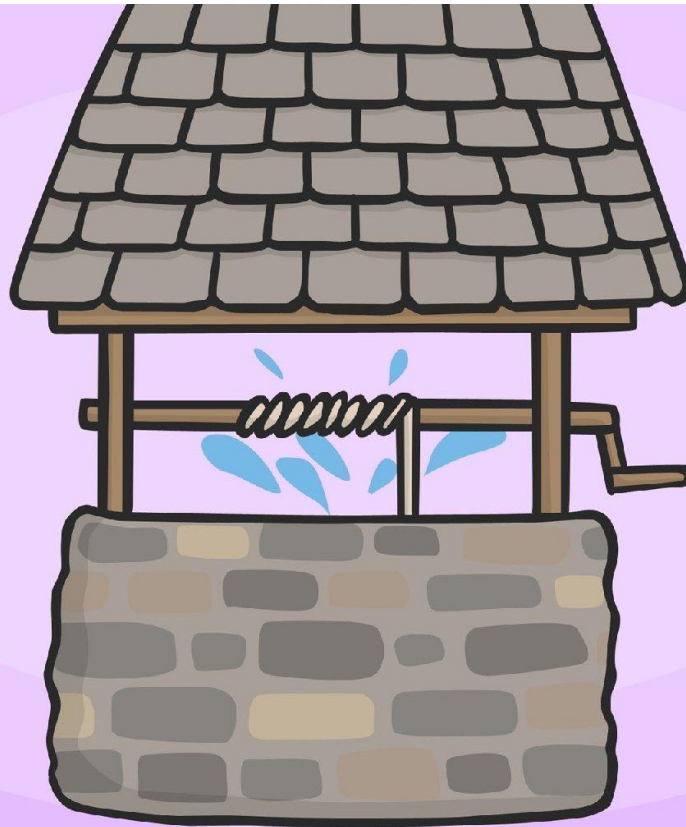

The evil green fairy put the frog into a well.

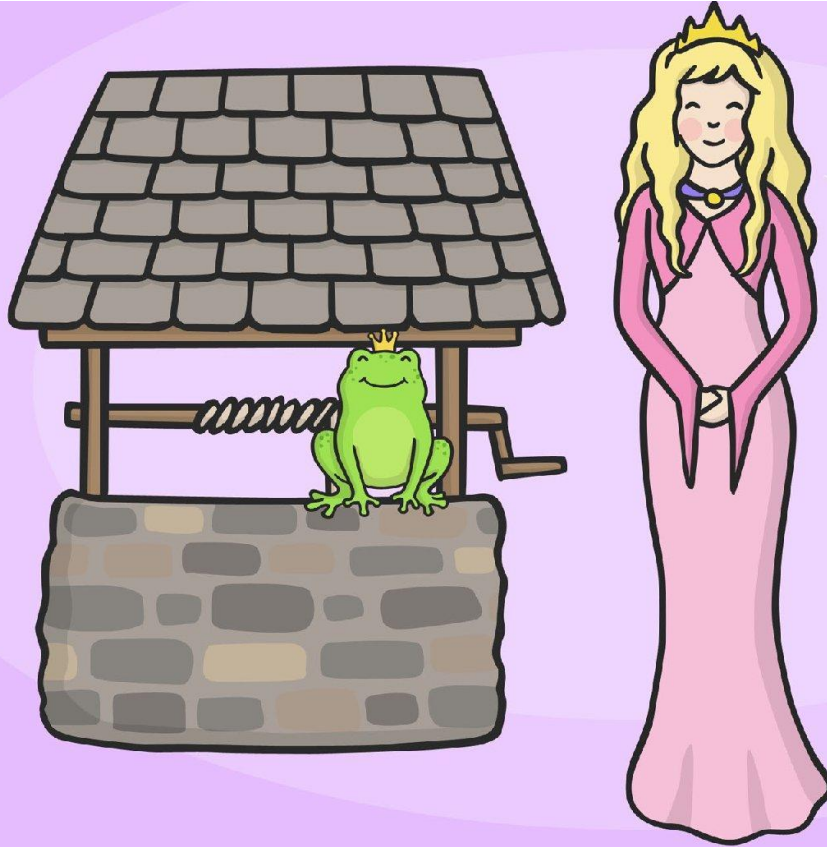

One day a beautiful princess went to play by the well with her golden ball.

'Oh no' said the Princess as her golden ball fell into the well with a great big SPLASH!

The princess asked the frog to fetch her ball from the bottom of the well.

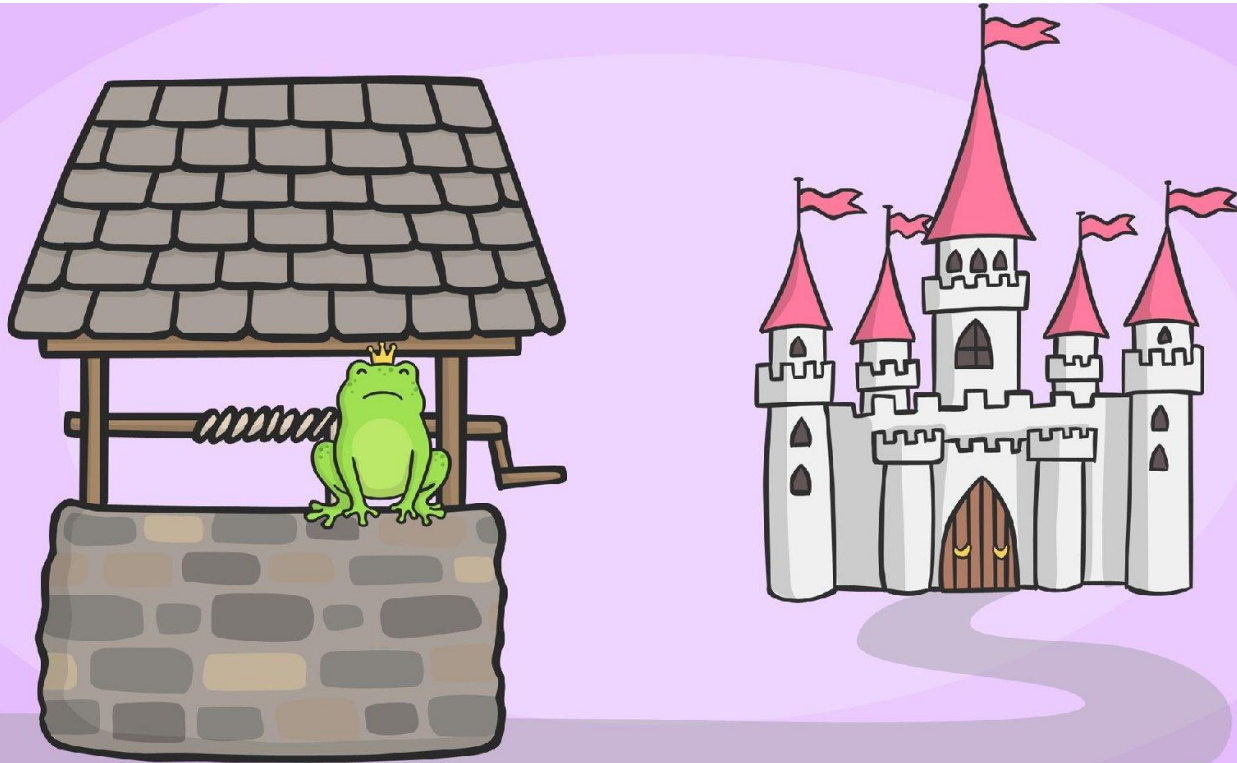

If you return my ball
I will love you,
let you eat from my plate
and sleep on my bed.

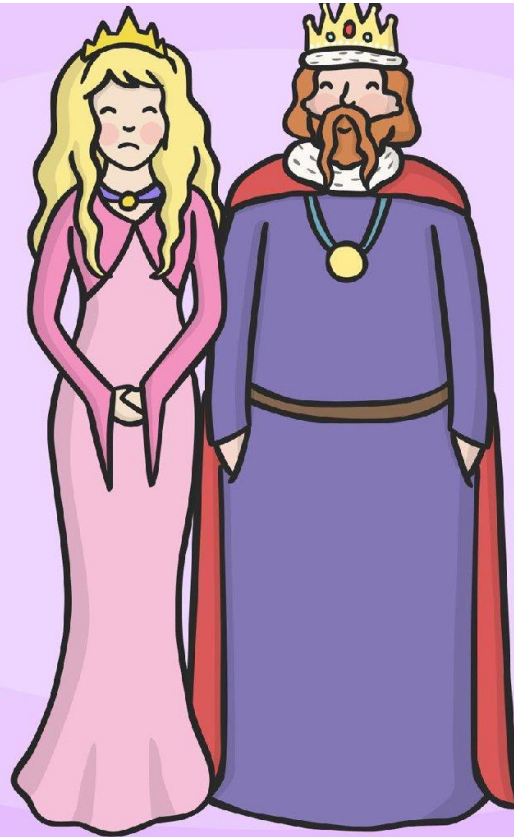

The nice frog fetched the golden ball from the bottom of the well and gave it to the princess.

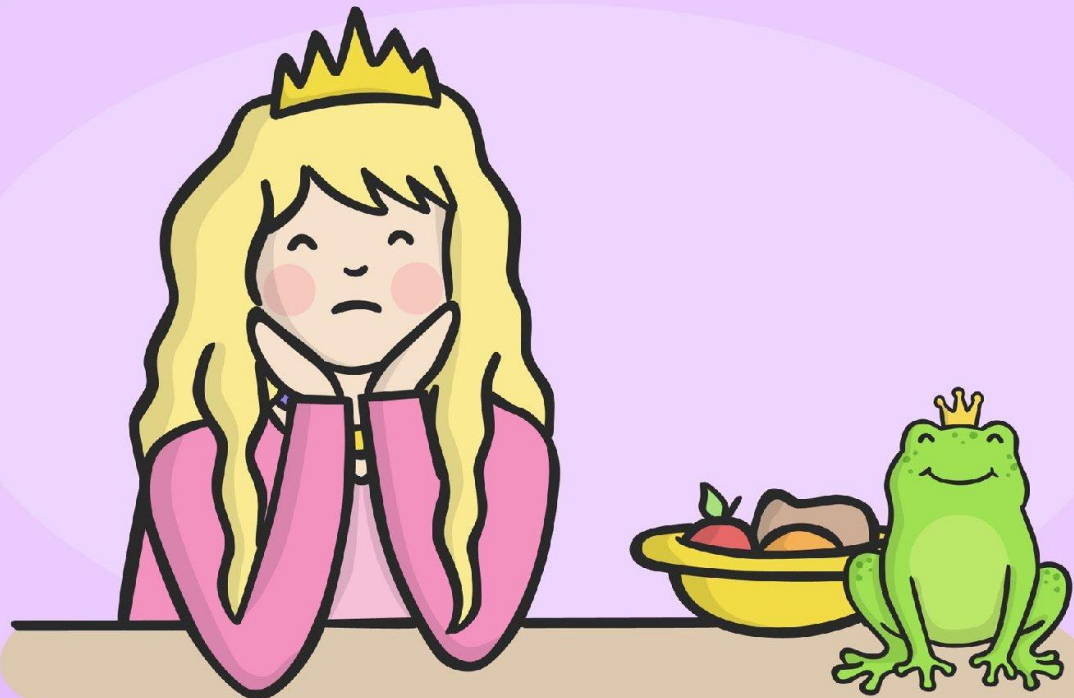

The princess took the golden ball from the frog and ran back to the palace without the frog!

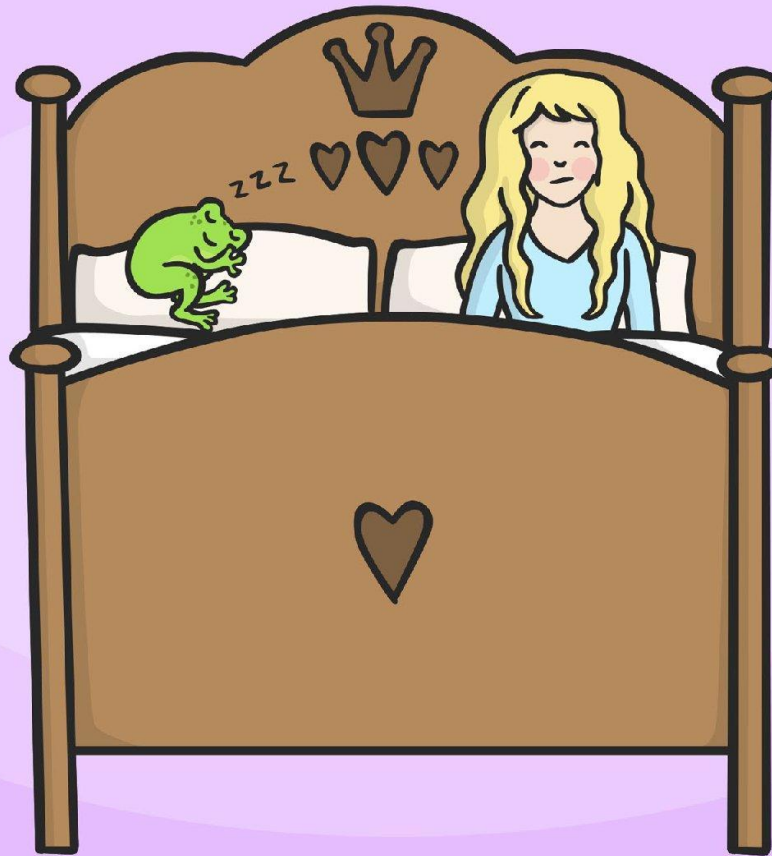

The Princess returned to the castle and told her father what had happened. The King was unhappy with the princess and said 'you must keep the promises you make!'

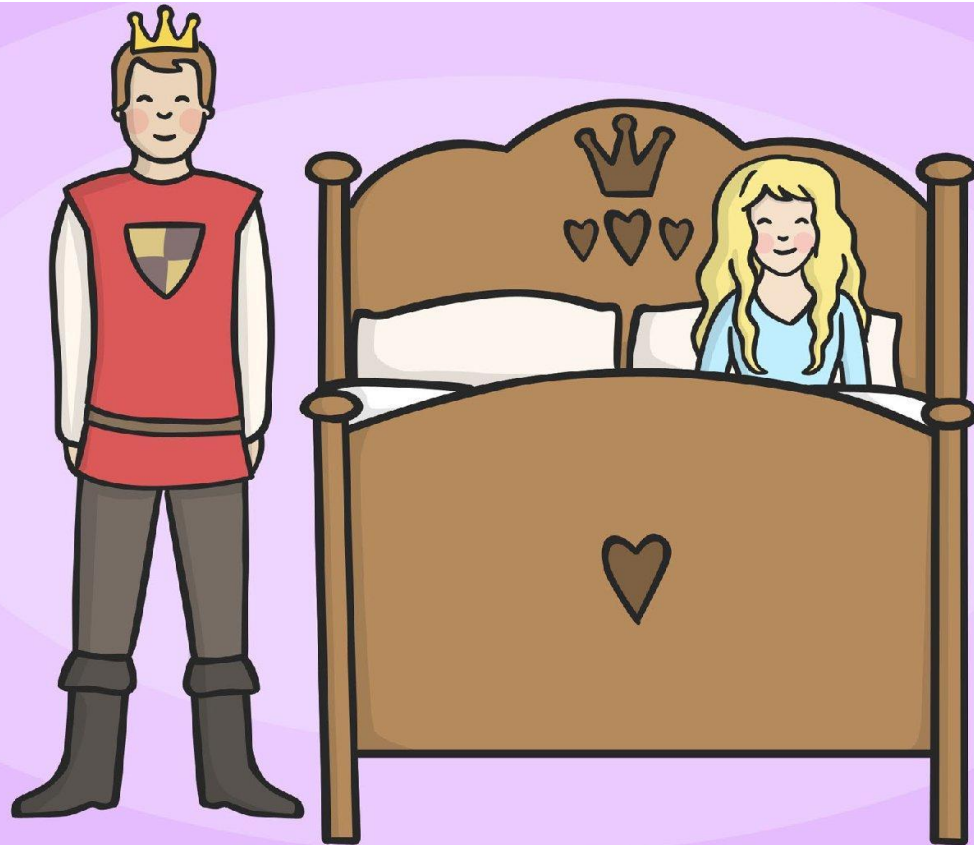

The princess felt sad and so she let the frog eat from her plate...

...and sleep on her bed. 'Snore' went the frog.

Then on the third day the princess woke up to see a handsome prince stood next to her bed.

The prince and princess were married and lived happily ever after!
